

eNCPT

Welcome to eNCPT – a web-based resource for the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics’ Nutrition Care Process Terminology. Improved from its predecessor (IDNT Reference Manual), eNCPT continues to offer all of the peer-reviewed content along with improved features such as easy navigation, modern functionality, improved site organization and language translations. These translations will be the collaborative work between the Academy and interested national dietetic associations. All subscribers will have access to every language translation of eNCPT.

As of October 2013, the Academy no longer requires a separate signed agreement and fee to license the standardized language terms. Institutions will be granted permission to use the terms in their Electronic Health Record (E H R) with an annual multi-seat subscription to eNCPT. Subscribers can download the spreadsheet of terms and abbreviations from eNCPT. The Academy will continue to update the terms annually and will communicate with subscribers on terminology changes.

All multi-seat subscribers will receive a unique link for a specified number of simultaneous users which can be placed on the subscriber’s intranet or desktops. The unique URL will eliminate the need for individuals having to log into the site each time. The annual fee for a subscription continues to be affordable for members and institutions:
